独角狮设计

Unicorn Lion Design — zcool.com.cn/u/ZNzEyMzA4MDA=

A range-driven regional studio: restrained per-piece palettes, earth-toned authenticity for Ningxia food/agri clients, and a full register shift — photography, illustration, or clean corporate — depending on what the category calls for.

1 Visual DNA

Regional authenticity Restrained palette Category-driven register
Production-ready Ningxia identity

Read before the sections below: with 8 sampled works spanning packaging, a brand logo, a VI manual, and a brochure, this portfolio does not show one repeated graphic symbol the way 造物起异's does. That absence is itself a real finding — this studio's signature is range and competency, not a single visual device. See §8 for exactly what confidence levels this evidence supports.

2 Portfolio Evidence

8 sampled cover images, acquired 2026-08-22 via anonymous browser session (no login, no WAF evasion).

3 Color Language

No single dominant hue repeats across clients — each piece is fully client/category-driven. What does repeat: a restrained 2–3-color discipline within any one piece, and earth tones specifically for the regional food/agri client set. Swatches are approximate visual reads, not claimed production colors.

4 Typography

Icon-integrated logotype

Discovery wordmark fuses a crescent-moon/star icon directly into the "o" letterform.

`ul_02`

Numeral as graphic anchor WEAK SIGNAL

A bold numeral in a bordered box ("38°") functions as the primary graphic device — observed once, not yet a stable rule.

`ul_05 only`

5 Composition

GENERATED DIAGRAM — REGISTER RANGE ACROSS THE 8 WORKS, NOT A SOURCE IMAGE

6 Shape & Graphic Language

No consistent geometric tendency holds across all 8 works — each client's mark (e.g. ul_03's rooster/phoenix bird logo) is the client's own identity, not a repeated studio device. This absence is recorded honestly rather than forced into a false pattern.

7 Imagery / Illustration

ul_01 is real product photography; ul_06 is flat fashion-editorial illustration; ul_03, 05, 07, 08 read as flat graphic/print design. This studio moves across photography, illustration, and flat graphic design depending on the deliverable type — a range finding, not a single default mode.

Ink-brush/mountain accenting

LOW

Traditional decorative linework in wellness context.

9 Do / Don't

Do

- Keep any single deliverable to 2–3 colors
- Lean into earth tones/paper-craft texture for regional food-agri briefs
- Match rendering mode to category, not one default
- Expect strong technical polish in VI/collateral

Don't

- Assume a repeated graphic symbol or mascot — none found
- Assume one fixed color family for the whole studio
- Assume illustration is the default — more than half the sample is photography or flat graphic design
- Over-claim the numeral-icon (§4) or ink-brush accent (§6) as stable rules — both single-work

10 Agent Design Guide

For a downstream generation agent

1. Identify the client category first — this studio's whole approach follows from it, not from a fixed house style.
2. Keep any single deliverable's palette to 2–3 colors.
3. For regional food/agriculture briefs, default to earth tones and a paper-craft/kraft surface look.
4. Choose rendering mode deliberately: photography for food-realism briefs, illustration for fashion-forward premium goods, clean flat graphic design for corporate/VI work.
5. Do not invent a "signature symbol" for this studio — none was found across 8 sampled works; build the identity from the client's own mark instead.
